

Warning to Potential Employees

It has been drawn to our attention that certain parties claiming to represent FOGL have been issuing job offers via a number of online employment websites.

Please be aware that these job offers are not genuine. If you have been offered a job with FOGL and are unsure about its origins please contact the company.

On no account should you hand over money or personal bank account details to anyone that has offered you employment at FOGL. You may be requested to make a payment to cover visa, administration or due diligence costs, for example.

If any organisation with which you are not familiar contacts you regarding a job opportunity at FOGL we recommend that you check the situation with the company.